

Privacy Policy

1. The confidentiality of your personal information

The Société du Palais des congrès de Montréal (hereafter the "Société") is committed to protecting the privacy of your personal information, including your financial information, transmitted through this website, hence including your first and last names, organization, job title, full address, email address, credit card information such as your credit card number, expiry date and security code (hereafter the "Information"), in accordance with the laws in effect, including laws pertaining to personal information and access to documents from public organizations.

Without limiting the foregoing, by choosing to use this website or any other service provided by the Société involving the transmission of your Information, you agree to having said Information collected and used by the Société as per the terms set out herein.

2. Collection and use of information

The Information you provide through this website shall be used by the Société for the following purposes, including: i) facilitating the management of your event, ii) managing activity registrations, iii) providing the appropriate level of customer service and, iv) transmitting post-event promotional offers by the Société.

3. Transmitting your Information to third parties

The Société collects your Information directly from you, some of which may be disclosed to a third party, but only with your consent or unless an exception is permitted by law. Hence, by duly checkmarking the "I agree" box below, you are consenting to the disclosure and transmission of your Information by the Société to the following parties:

- Société employees who shall require it to perform their duties in order to meet the objectives for which your Information is being collected;
- Société suppliers directly or indirectly involved in the planning of your event; and
- Global Payments, the credit card payment service hired by the Société to handle transactions related to your event.